DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-28, 62, and 63, drawn to a method of coating a surface by directing energy and feedstock, parallel to each other, to the surface, classified in class 427, subclass 421.
 - II. Claims 29 and 31, drawn to a method of coating using intersecting lasers, classified in class 427, subclass 596.
 - III. Claims 30 and 36-55, drawn to a method of coating using a hollow tube to guide the coating material, classified in class 427, subclass 476.
 - IV. Claims 32-35, drawn to coated devices, classified in class 428.
 - V. Claims 56-61, drawn to a coating apparatus comprising hollow members, classified in class 118, subclass 306.
 - VI. Claims 64-66, drawn to a coating apparatus for flowing materials towards a substrate, classified in class 118, subclass 300.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I, II, and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not shown as capable of use together and have different modes of operation. Group I is a method of directing a feedstock and energy source parallel to each other to a substrate. Group II is a method of directing feedstock through an intersection of lasers. Group III is a method of coating by directing feedstock through a hollow tube. These methods are not shown as capable of use together and have different modes of operation.

3. Inventions V and VI are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not disclosed as capable of use together and have different modes of operation. Group V is an apparatus comprising hollow members whereas the apparatus of Group VI has a means for directing feedstock to a surface at a perpendicular angle.

4. Inventions I, II, and III are related to Inventions V and VI as processes and apparatuses for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatuses as claimed can be used to practice other processes, such as accelerating a material or sterilizing it.

Art Unit: 1762

5. Inventions I, II, and III are related to Invention IV as processes of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the products as claimed can be made by another process, such as dipping.

6. Inventions V and VI are related to Invention IV as apparatuses and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus (MPEP § 806.05(g)). In this case the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus, such as an immersion tank.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1762

9. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each of the Groups is not required for the other Groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

10. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
